

CONTENTS

SECTION 1. COMMUNICATION THEORY AND METHODOLOGY

Manipulative potential of social networks in the system of modern information threats Balovsiak N. V.	4
Pilgrimage as narrative: from Hesse to Brown – the transformation of the sacred into media practice Panchenko S. A.	8
The concept of cognitive warfare: a communicative aspect Trachuk T. A.	12

SECTION 2. PUBLIC RELATIONS AND ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION

Secondary nomination as an element of information counteraction Koshman I. M.	17
Specificity of the headline complex in the regional press: functional and pragmatic aspects (on the example of the newspaper «Irpinsky visnyk») Pavlova A. K., Polkovenko T. V.	21
Discursive representation of artificial intelligence in the British media in 2025 Pereplotchykova S. E.	25

SECTION 3. ADVERTISING AS A TYPE OF SOCIAL COMMUNICATION

Brand history as an advertising strategy Tsepkalo T. O.	29
---	----

SECTION 4. WORLD TRENDS IN MODERN JOURNALISM

Social media development trends in Ukraine amidst Russian military aggression Bondar Yu. V., Ryabichev V. L., Vasylenko K. M.	33
Strategies and features of coverage of the Russian-Ukrainian war in the Kazakhstan media Marukhovskiy O. O.	37
Negotiations in wartime as a media event: the impact of the information environment on humanitarian agreements (case study of the Russian-Ukrainian war) Skorofatova A. O.	41